You may know Jenny and David Burd if you have attended the Fairchild Tropical Botanic Garden Mango Festival where they slice up hundreds of mangos for visitors to sample, read the book or viewed the film titled "The Fruit Hunters" where they give a demo on drying fruit or had the pleasure of meeting the "Friendly Burd's" at ECHO where they teach grafting, the Old Naples Farmers' Market or through their Friendly Burd Tree Service in Naples. If you have not had that pleasure yet, don't miss this meeting.

You might want to call Jenny and David Burd "Mango Mavens." With all the mango varieties in the world, they have sampled hundreds. They have over 70 mango trees growing in the backyard of their Naples home. Both are Master Gardeners.

Jenny and David don't grow just mangos. They grow all types of subtropical fruit from the recognizable to the exotic, spices and herbs.
